Problems we can help you solve:

- Limited space for discarded, incoming donations, or deaccessioned books.
- Lack of time and volunteers to help weed book, sort, and haul away those books.
- Lack of a solution to help increasing library fundraising and financial challenges.

WHERE YOUR STORY IS OUR PRIORITY.

Testimonials

Discover Books has been great for our Friends of the Library group. They are able to feel good about disposing of unsalable donations and unsold inventory after book sales.

At the beginning of the pandemic, we did a major inventory project while closed to the public, and Discover Books picked up tons of books from several branches in our system. Especially now, the safe, contactless pickup is appreciated and our market manager & drivers are so accommodating and easy to work with.

Highly recommended.

The blue book drop bins have allowed the community to continue to donate books while our library buildings are closed and our Friends group has been unable to work in the buildings. This has allowed the library to raise some funds while closed and has also relieved the staff from having to handle donations left outside our doors or placed in our regular book drops. We plan to keep the bins even after we reopen while letting the community know what types of books are most useful as donations so that they can donate those inside the library.

I would like to add that you (Chris Larsen), personally, are wonderful to work with and always answer my emails promptly. Hector, the driver who picks up, is also great to work with. I don't know what I would do with all my leftover books (4 bins a month) if Discover Books didn't provide this service.
